Snoqualmie Valley Health Foundation Announces Inaugural Golf Invitational Sept. 23rd

SNOQUALMIE, WA – Snoqualmie Valley Health Foundation is delighted to announce the inaugural Golf Invitational, an event dedicated to improving the well-being of our community. The invitational will take place on Monday, Sept. 23 at the prestigious Club at Snoqualmie Ridge, home to the only Jack Nicklaus Signature Course in Washington and home to the Boeing Classic.

Empowering Community Health

The event seeks to unite individuals, businesses, and organizations in a collective effort to provide life-saving equipment, patient support, innovative healthcare programs, and initiatives that significantly enhance the well-being of our community.

“The SVH Foundation is proud to offer an afternoon of cheers — while raising critical funds for the health of the Snoqualmie Valley residents. We believe that everyone has the power to make a difference,” said Steve Wright, MPA, Foundation Executive Director.

Event Highlights

- A Day of Golf: Participants will enjoy a round of golf on the remarkable Jack Nicklaus Signature Course, known for its luxurious amenities and extraordinary service.
- Community Engagement: The event will gather community members, organizations, and Snoqualmie Valley Health executives in support of the Foundation’s mission.

- Networking Opportunities: The opportunity to engage with like-minded individuals and organizations committed to making a positive impact on community health.
- Support for Health Initiatives: Contributions from the event will directly fund essential healthcare services and programs aimed at improving the health and wellness of the Snoqualmie Valley community.

"The Club at Snoqualmie Ridge is the perfect setting for our inaugural Golf Invitational," said Renée K. Jensen, CEO of Snoqualmie Valley Health. "This event is a fantastic opportunity for community members to come together, enjoy a day of golf, and support vital local healthcare initiatives that make a significant difference in our community."
