Snoqualmie Valley Health to Break Ground on Transformative Expansion Project

SNOQUALMIE, WA – Snoqualmie Valley Health invites the community to join a special groundbreaking ceremony on Friday, August 22 at 4 p.m. as we turn the soil and celebrate the future of healthcare in the Snoqualmie Valley.

This event marks a key milestone in our expansion journey, celebrating the progress already underway on the HUB. The 80,000+ square-foot, state-of-the-art medical office building is designed to bring 225 new jobs, more than 30 new medical providers, specialty services, and amenities to meet the growing needs of our community.

“Our expansion is not just about adding square footage, it’s about creating a destination for health, community and connection,” said Renée K. Jensen, CEO of Snoqualmie Valley Health. “This project is an investment in the future of our Valley and the people we serve.”

The new facility will feature:

- Expanded Clinical Space: 33 exam rooms, 4 operating rooms, radiology suite, rehabilitation center, outpatient services, laboratory, and a retail pharmacy.
- More Providers & Services: 30+ new medical providers, 225+ new jobs, extended hours, and new specialty services.
- Community Amenities: A welcoming café, full-service restaurant, fitness gym featuring a three-story rock-climbing wall, and versatile community meeting spaces.

We welcome all community members, partners, and stakeholders to join us in commemorating this exciting milestone. The ceremony will take place at the future site of the expansion.
